Rusina Mining HOLD

RUSINA Mining is pursuing three separate developments related to its Acoje nickel-chromite-platinum project in the Philippines.

Management of the company is constantly looking to progress from the exploration stage to the production stage, and quickly.

Rusina is also looking to keep its capital structure as tight as possible, meaning it will continue to seek deals where project funding is undertaken by partnerships.

All of this is backed up by a very strong board and management team that is based in the Philippines and thus with excellent local connections.

There is obviously a lot of work to be undertaken on Rusina's Acoje project; however there appears to be a great deal of upside in the venture.

Disclosure: Both stocks are held in the Fat Prophets Portfolio.
